

Fruit Street School Family Night a Big Hit

By Nancy Hodgkins

Fun was had by all at a family night held in Mrs. Hodgkins' first grade classroom at Fruit Street School. Families were invited to join Mrs. Hodgkins on September 20th to listen to a story and do a follow up activity. Mrs. Hodgkins read aloud Snake Gets in Shape, a math story about how a snake turned himself into many different shapes. After the story, children and their families used clay to make their own snakes. Of course, the snakes had to be made into a shape! A share time was held when the shape snakes were completed. What an array of interesting and shapely snakes! Many of the children enjoyed how snake turned himself into so many shapes in the story. The lift the flap format of the book was also a big hit with the children. Many of the snakes are still "slithering" around at home. At the conclusion of the night, children munched on a tasty shape snack.

Left to right: Marcus, Tracey and Kyle McCue

Left to right: Hannah, Brent and Mary Nickerson

Left to right: Nickolas, Karen and Aiden Childs

Left to right: Cynthia and Sam Scott

Left to right: Nina, Zachary and Sherry Faulkner

Left to right: Blakely, Morgan, Robby and Susan Alexander

Left to right: Nathan, Marcy and Wayne Vidal

Left to right: Page, Nancy, Robert and Abby Cadorette

Left to right: Kevin, Ruai and Vicky Luu