

STUDENT RESEARCH AND PUBLISHING

---

Students may develop materials which are marketable or may wish to write for publication.

Generally students should be entitled to all rights to copyrights, patents, royalties, awards, and prizes resulting from such individual student efforts; however, if such products are developed as a specific focus of a scheduled class activity, the Bangor School Department shall be granted unlimited rights to the use of such products for the Bangor School Department.

All materials to be so protected shall have the following printed on the front cover or title page, film frame, or computer display of every copy distributed: "Copyright (year) (student's name) and Bangor School Department."

VOTED: 20 August 1984

